Government Extension Endangers Liberties Schrepfer Tells Club

Description Given Rotarians of Democracy, Fascism
and Communism

FAVORS PRESENT FORM

How representative democracy differs from Communism and Fascism in its fundamental principles and the rights and privileges of the individual was graphically described at the luncheon of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club, Tuesday, by Frank A. Schrepfer.

Mr. Schrepfer, Professor of Landscape Architecture at the University of Pennsylvania and active in various civic and community activities, said: "Our form of government presents an ideal form of democracy, because we have both a legislative and executive branch of government, the representatives of which are chosen by the vote of the people. The Judicial branch, as represented by the Supreme Court, acts as a balance to settle the inevitable conflicts that are sure to arise between individuals and the States."

Fascism in Italy, Schrepfer described as a corporate empire in which the state deprives the individual of a voice in the government. The state grants to individuals certain rights as they see fit.

In Germany, the state is the sole functioning agency of the government and the Nazi party is the state. The individual can belong to anything he wants to join, but to vote he must belong to the Nazi party. The legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government all derive their power by appointment by Hitler.

Hospital Campaign Total Now $210,000

Chairman Pew Pleased With Results, But Urges Further Effort

Bryn Mawr Hospital workers have added $44,000 during the past week in their drive for $1,000,000.

This was announced by Arthur E. Pew, Jr., executive chairman of the "pay-the-mortgage" campaign as commanders and generals learned that the total to date is $210,000.

Despite the fact that the sum comparatively was much less than reported a week ago, Mr. Pew said he considered it encouraging.

"Twenty per cent of the cards are now in," said Mr. Pew, "and workers should now really begin hitting their stride in this drive for much-needed funds for the hospital."

"It cannot be stressed too strongly that additional efforts must be made, however," he warned.

Among the larger gifts reported this week included one from Walter C. Pew for $5100.

Others include Mary Ethel Pew, $5000; Horatio Gates Lloyd, Jr., $3000; Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Clothier, Jr., $2000; and Mr. and Mrs. Tristram C. Colket, 2d, $1500.

Players Open Season With Fine Production

"Petticoat Fever" Pleases Audience Which Reviewer Holds Should Increase

The Narberth Players 1937-38 season opened most auspiciously with a completely delightful production of Mark Reed's "Petticoat Fever." Praiseworthy from every angle this reviewer finds it difficult to find enough space to applaud all those who worked so hard to put on a show which kept two night's audiences chuckling and laughing at a most entertaining and amusing play.

First, orchids to Faith Farmer, a director who knows how to make the most of her play, her cast and technicians. Second, bravos for a superb cast, each of whom played his or her part to the hilt, yet was intelligent enough to blend the whole to permit a smoothness rare in amateur performances. Third, three cheers for those unseen and too often unsung heroes who must build the scenery from scratch—and what a set. Impossible not to pass a word of praise for "props," which included calendars on the wall from Canada and pictures of the King and Queen. And lest we forget, the costuming—particularly of the charming female leads, was alluring, not only to that connoisseur of female pulchritude, Dascam Dinsmore, but to the audience as well.

To this reviewer there was only one fly in the ointment. Here was a show, a good one on every count, yet not all

30 Per Cent on Merion Title School Funds Due Nov. 15

Six years ago the doors of the Merion Title and Trust Company changed shut, locking up among the $6,154,301 in deposits $66,395 belonging to boys and girls in thirteen local schools.

Today, Luther Harr, Secretary of Banking, announced that $19,918, or 30 per cent of the school fund savings liability, will be paid to the 7,277 former school children on November 15.

The November payment will bring the total distributed to 65 per cent.

The savings came from eight grade schools in Lower Merion Township—Ardmore, Ashland, Bala, Bryn Mawr, Cynwyd, Merion, Merion Square and Wynnewood Road; from the Lower Merion Junior and Senior High Schools; two grade schools in the Borough of Narberth, and the St. Denis Parochial School, Oakmont.

Other depositors of the Merion Title and Trust Company will receive additional dividends from the bank as soon as the R. F. C. loan, obtained by the previous Secretary of Banking to pay the 10 per cent dividend in December, 1934, is repaid, and the remaining assets liquidated.

The Deputy Receiver in charge, Frank Glatfelter, expects to repay it by the end of the year.

Democrats List Boro Needs

"A constructive program for Narberth" is the title of an interesting folder mailed to voters this week by the local Democratic candidates. Listing sixteen needs for the borough, the folder is written not only as a campaign document, but as a guide to the future program of the group sponsoring it.

Republican Victory Held Certain Tuesday With Interest Small

Democrats Get First Place on Ballot First Time in Years

JUDGES ARE UNOPPOSED

Lower Merion and Narberth residents will go to the polls next Tuesday to cast ballots in one of the least exciting elections in local history.

With registration figures showing nearly a two and one-half to one margin of Republicans to Democrats in Montgomery county, a G. O. P. victory appears to be certain in the contests for Prothonotary and Jury Commissioner.

The two sitting judges up for re-election, Harold G. Knight, president of the Common Pleas Court, and J. Burnett Holland, of the Orphans' Court, have the indorsement of both major parties.

Candidates for Prothonotary are Earl B. Bechtel, Pottstown, Republican, and Irwin Kehs, East Greenville, Democrat.

Jury Commissioner candidates are Samuel Glass, Whitemarsh, Republican, and Joseph McElhatton, West Conshohocken, Democrat.

For the first time in years the Democratic straight party block will appear first on county ballot, it is announced by the County Board of Elections. The change is due to the fact that Pennsylvania turned in a Democratic majority in the last Presidential election. The Republican party block and Republican candidates will be listed second on the ballots.

In Narberth the two Republican candidates for Magistrate are Horace T. Smedley and Roy I. Gowland, while

Presbyterians Plan Mission Conference

Bible Expositors From Afar to be at Narberth Church November 7-14

The Narberth Presbyterian Church will hold its annual Bible and Missionary Conference at the church from November 7-14.

This conference is most unusual in that it will bring together a remarkable group of Bible expositors and missionaries. The world's attention is drawn to the East because of the great conflict there. Three representatives of wide-spread missionary activity in the Orient are included in the list of speakers; Rev. Robert Hall Glover, M.D., F. R. G. S. director for North America of the Great China Inland Mission, Rev. T. Stanley Soltan, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Presbyterian Mission to Korea, and Rev. James Graham, Jr., dynamic minister of the Southern Presbyterian Church, who has spent years in China.

In fact, the various representatives will include men from every continent in the world except Europe. Rev. Philip J. May, D.D., who went to the French Cameroun in 1924, will tell of the development of that vast area. Dr. May has recently spent many months in helping to open a medical station in one of the most primitive districts of Cameroun.

Dr. Lewis Sperry Chafer, president of the Dallas Theological Seminary of Dallas, Texas, will be the Bible expositor for the conference. Dr. Chafer is well known to many residents of the Main Line.

The public is invited to this conference to get a fresh vision of world affairs and the old Book of the Ages. The services will be held at the church on both Sundays at 11 A. M. and 7:45 P. M. The services from Monday to Friday will begin at 7:45 P. M.

Dance Tonight at Brookline

Magarity for Magistrate—Spectator Has Good Reasons

To the Editor:

We were away on the regular registration days and haven't had sufficient wit to learn how the names might have been listed at Norristown, which is a pity, as we would certainly want to vote for Joe Magarity, on the Democratic ticket for magistrate. Joe is a "sitting judge" and he can reasonably expect some of the reciprocity his party is giving Judge Knight. More important (and more serious) than that is the fact that he is exactly the kind of solid, forthright human being who ought to be magistrate in a town like this, a man who really likes to serve his fellowman and who will go very much out of his way to be of effective help. We are aware of the many things he has done, of the marriages he has mended, the scraps he has adjusted, the boys he has diverted to the right idea, and it would be a real set-back if he were not permitted to continue in office, to the borough's excellent advantage, as no other candidate on the list vies with Joe in those "homey" qualities which should attach to a squire's job in its best estate.

Seems to us that to make a party issue of a situation of this kind just doesn't square with common sense nor with Narberth's established sense of fairness and so the hope is expressed that your pencil will find its way to an "X" besides Joe's name in the block for magistrates on election day. In his official duties, and general solicitude for all concerned, he knows no party and neither should his friends and townsmen split hairs on this occasion when he seeks approval of his endeavors and a continuance in an office which gives him no return except the wholesome satisfaction he derives from befriending and benefiting his neighbors.

THE SPECTATOR.

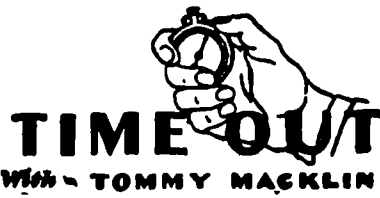

Editor "Our Town":

The voters and taxpayers of Narberth are about to decide what kind of a government we shall have for the next four years in the borough. Shall that government be independent, vigorous and alert in seizing every opportunity for progressive public service? Shall it be truly representative of the whole community, or only of a bare majority? Shall it be chosen because of its allegiance to a party tradition that has nothing to do with our local problems, or shall it be made up, in part, at least, of persons whose only claim to support is their earnest devotion to a constructive program of local service?

A broad-gauge constructive program for Narberth, initiated and sponsored by a few local candidates on the Democratic ticket, will be in the hands of every voter this week-end for study before election day. It is not couched in generalities, but in specific, concrete projects. Its fulfillment, to which these candidates are solemnly pledged, will mean better business for Narberth, far greater convenience and safety for every citizen, a more sightly and more satisfactory residence community, a more efficient and more economical administration, with more and better service to its constituents. It will mean greater opportunity for our children.

As a registered and convinced Democrat, I want to express my thanks to the many registered and convinced Republicans who have indicated their intention to vote for local candidates this year on their merits alone and without regard for party labels that have no bearing on local affairs. I believe the records of these Democratic candidates, long residents of Narberth, demonstrate their honest determination and their ability to bring this constructive program to success. That program, whether we win or lose now, points the way to a great future for Narberth. Shall its friends be allowed to serve?

KENNETH L. M. PRAY

Harvey Harman's twelfth man has become quite an interesting topic. Its greatest boon was that it turned an otherwise dull afternoon into one of the most interesting of the football season.

The Philadelphia sports writers were the real beneficiaries, however, for it gave them something startling and different to write about, thus lifting their weekly diatribes from their customary plane of dullness and futility. Of course, there are exceptions. Ed. Pollock, Philadelphia's most constructive and tolerant sports commentator, doesn't need such unusual situations for his sprightly column, but even he took up the cudgel when he should have been leaving that weapon to men with more muscle and less brains. Oh, boy! Was it meat for Lud Wray in his weekly poison column. Countless thousands must get quite a chuckle watching Lud grind his axe each week-end. Harman should put him on a salary, for every swipe he takes out his cleaver—every swipe with his butcher knife adds more and more to the friends and followers of the present coaching regime at the University.

P. L., that not-anonymous commentator, offers the belief that Penn will lose all her remaining games this season. So what? Just to be contrary T. M. will beat that one. Penn will win all of her remaining games.

Russ Byerly, assistant coach at Lower Merion, says that Williamson Trade School was scheduled to fill in for West Philadelphia High School, the eleven originally slated to appear on Pennypacker Field last Saturday. Russell's old school did a good job of filling in and I doubt if West Philly could have approached the performance of the Media school. The score of 20 to 0 rolled up by the visitors just about tells the story of their superiority. Plenty of alibis could be spoken in truth for Lower Merion, such as five injured first string men who were either out of the game altogether or should have been. None of the Williamson Trade scores were the result of running power. Two of them came after they had failed to gain through the line at all and were the result of forward passes into Dick Miller's territory, who, incidentally, was too crippled to properly cover his zone of defense. Lower Merion in her full strength matched against Williamson Trade at her best would be a mighty good football game. The Marion team fumbled three times in the visitors' territory when their running game was in full stride and each time lost the ball.

There seemed to be little interest in the game—at least there was not the urge to do or die for the colors. Maybe it was because the game was played on Monday and came as a sort of climax to the regular week-end build up. Anyway we would like to have seen the boys win and though the verdict was against them, we feel that with the resumption of regular league warfare this Saturday the boys will get back in winning stride, particularly if they are in physical trim. The end play was the outstanding highlight of the struggle. Joe Dimidio particularly scintillated on defense.

Another tie game with Chester last week by a 0 to 0 score leaves Lower Merion Junior High still in the unbeaten class and that goes back for eight years of Mattis coached teams in Junior High opposition. Edison, at Harrisburg, today. Prediction, 0 to 0.

Ira Fox, Narberth athlete, captain of Bucknell University's varsity soccer team, once again this season is playing a steady game at left half-back for the Bison booters at Lewisburg.

Fox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Fox, 31 Narbrook Park, is leading the Bucknell eleven through a stiff eight-game schedule during which it will encounter some of the finest teams in the east. He is a graduate of Lower Merion High School.

A member of Coach Joe Reno's soccer squad for the last three campaigns, Fox is one of four senior veterans in the starting lineup. In other Bucknell activities, he has been outstanding as president of the senior class and president of the Bucknell chapter of Kappa Sigma, men's social fraternity.

Narberth Bridge Club

October 22, top score, Miss Anna V. Foley and Mrs. H. I. McConnell; second place, Mrs. C. J. Goodyear and Mrs. Mark Morgan.

October 23, top score, J. H. Baker and William Thompson; second place, C. A. Hammer and William Boyle.

In the Schools

On October 21, an auction sale was held in the lower hall of the Narberth Public School to raise enough money, with which to buy an oil painting by Frederick Anderson.

A fairly large group of students and teachers turned out, as the auction was held after school. Mr. Knoll and Mr. Harkness, two teachers in the school, were the auctioneers. Things from the costume closet, articles left over from the work of the boys in the shop, and other "White Elephants," were the things auctioned. The eighth grade girls, helped in the mending of the articles, arrangement, and the advertising. After the sale was finished, it was found that they could buy the picture.

If you come to the Narberth Public School, you will see this picture hanging in the lower hall.

On October 20, the football team of the Narberth School, played that of St. Margaret's. The score, 25 to 0, gave Narberth another victory.

of the people of Narberth who could have availed themselves of the privileges of a grand evening of good clean fun, took the trouble to come to Elm Hall. True, a three-quarter house used to be considered a good one, but with shows like "Petticoat Fever" the Players well deserve the support of a full house—even "standing room only" signs. For only with capacity houses can the productions be assured of the necessary where-withal.

John Flynn is indeed a leading man who is as good looking as Tyrone Power, as charming as Robert Montgomery and gave a performance as sophisticated as William Powell's. He was also in luck having so charming a leading lady as Grace Werner, whose performance was much beyond the usual one given by amateurs. The balance of the cast all did most excellently.—A PLAYERS BOOSTER.

Government Extension Endangers Liberties

In Russia, Communism denies all rights of the individual. Natural resources, products of industry and the individuals all belong to the state and the administration of government lies solely in the Central Union headed by Stalin. In its brutality lies its strength.

In closing Schrepfer said the trend today throughout the world is to constantly contribute more power to government. In this country we are asking more and more of government and as a result we, as individuals, will have to pay more and more in either taxes, services to our government or loss of liberties, in proportion to our tendency to pass on to government our responsibilities.

Dr. Barclay Jones thanked Mr. Schrepfer in behalf of the club.

William Everhart, proprietor of The Tavern, Montgomery avenue, Cynwyd, was welcomed into the club as a new member by James A. Carroll representing the Fellowship Committee.

The committee in charge of the innovation has spared no time and expense in making the party so merry that its repetition will be demanded next year.

Judges include the Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Stephenson; Miss Virginia Hildreth, Wynnewood, president of the Junior Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Boylan, of Cynwyd (Mrs. Boylan is the club's vice-president); Mr. and Mrs. Evan Russell, of Narberth; Mr. and Mrs. E. Harmon Friel, entertainment chairmen of the Cynwyd Club, and Mrs. Helen G. Greenwood, Publisher and Editor of the News.

Divers and sundry will bob for apples in pails of very wet water; soft, delicious pies will be eaten in forkless haste; and there will be other contests. Those in fancy dress will parade and compete for cash prizes for best costumes. And there will be cider on tap, and souvenirs, and a surprise screen show.

The Hallowe'en Midnight Ramble will begin soon after the end of the regular Saturday show, whose feature film, both Friday and Saturday, is "Big Shot," comic story of a small-town animal-lover who inherits $2,000,000 and many a headache. Guy Kibbee and Cora Witherspoon play the leading roles.

Travel Club to Meet
